

Course Outcomes of M.A Political Science

Sr. No.	Course Title	Course Code	Sem	CO	Course Outcome
A	Western Political Thought: From Plato to Bodin	Course- I	I	CO 1	The course gives an introduction to Political Thought processes and Theory making in the West. From the Greek Political thinkers to down the ages including Utilitarians
				CO2	This course introduces the student to the richness and variations in the political perceptions of Western Thinkers.
				CO3	It provides a foundation to students of Political Science in familiarizing themselves to the Thought & Theory of Western Philosophy.
B	Government and politics in India	Course-II	I	CO1	It significantly opens up the understanding of the Constitution and the Institutions in their historical and contemporary context
				CO2	This course deals with various dynamics of the Institutions at Central and State level.
				CO3	It gives an understanding on the functioning of Parliamentary system in the Country.
C	Comparative Politics	Course-III	I	CO1	The course is intended to offer theoretical and methodological issues in Comparative Politics. It seeks to enhance the students' understanding of politics, state, government, democracy, development, civil society, parties and interest groups, social movements from a comparative perspective.
				CO2	The course seeks to examine the diversity of political systems in contemporary world, the historical evolution of State: its political economy; key political institutions; mode and extent of representation and participation; current and future dilemmas; place in the world system and the key factors such as globalization that influence the functioning of the political systems.
D	International politics (Theories, Approaches & concepts	Course- IV	I	CO1	The purPOe of this course is to familiarize the students with some of the broad themes in the study of International Relations.
				CO2	It introduces the students to the evolutionary history of International Politics as a distinct discipline and provides them with the theoretical and conceptual dimensions of the subject. The course concludes with a description of contemporary history from the pre Cold War to the POt Cold War era and goes on to describe the globalizing world.
				CO3	Its aim is to enable the students gain their own theoretical perspectives in approaching world politics. The course helps Indian as well as foreign students in understanding International Relations as part of Political Science from a global, theoretical and discipline centric perspectives, serving its purPOe as a foundation course.

E	Western political Thought: From Hobbes to Marx	Course-V	II	CO1	The students should be able to demonstrate an understanding some of the most important ideas and theories concerning the relationship between humans state and society in the political thought of the ancient Greeks, the social contractarians and Karl Marx.
				CO2	Demonstrate a sense of distinction in the ideas of these philosophers particularly pertaining to the form and idea of political community.
				CO3	Demonstrate a familiarity and comprehensions of the key texts, their context and implications.
F	Recent Trends in Indian politics.	Course- VI	II	CO1	This course will develop an understanding in the students about the historical and emerging trends in political process in the India states.
				CO2	The students will understand the federal process in India, the issues underlying political dynamics of regions, the changing power relations between centre and states over a period of time and the nature of party system and electoral politics at the state level.
G	Comparative Politics and political Analysis	Course- VII:	II	CO1	Students will gain knowledge about evolutions of comparative as a domain, its method and theories with a focus on politics in different nations in a comparative perspective.
				CO2	They will be familiar with different models of political system and the way political dynamics have changed and shaped societies from time to time
				CO3	To apply the knowledge gained in understanding the politics of different nations and the political trends including area studies
H	Emerging World Order	Course- VIII:	II	CO1	To develop a clear understanding of salient forces and principles of shaping international order and the relation between nation-states.
				CO2	To identify the conceptual ideas underpinning international relations between nation-state.
				CO3	To develop awareness of the complexities of the global context in which nation-state conduct their affairs.
I	Indian political Thought	Course-IX:	III	CO1	The students will understand introductory elements of Indian Political thought.
				CO2	The study on individual thinker whose ideas are framed as specific themes also encouraging the specific knowledge of individual thinkers.
				CO3	To introduce a wide span of thinkers and theme that defines the modernity of Indian Political Thought.
J	Regional politics in India	Course-X	III	CO1	To understand about the political developments in various states of India.
				CO2	To know about issues based on religion, language and caste in a comparative mode
				CO3	Understanding of the deeper realities and dimensions of regional and sub regional politics in India.
				CO1	To understand the nature of nationalism as a political phenomenon.

K	Theories of Nationalism and processes of Nation Building	Course-XI	III	CO2	To understand how nationalism has been studied in comparative politics, international relations and political thought.
				CO3	To understand the process of emergence and diffusion of the nation state and assess the competing theories that seeks to account for the emergence and endurance of nationalism.
L	India's foreign policy and Relations	Course-XII	III	CO1	A student of this course studies India's Foreign Policy; its determinants; the role played by different institution in the policy formulation as well as implementation.
				CO2	Further, the student evaluates India's relations with neighbours as well as with global powers.
				CO3	Critically, the course provides a comprehensive understanding of India in the global theatre. It provides greater scope for employment in the policy planning divisions of Ministries as consultants and researchers.
M	Modern Indian Political Thought	Course:XII	IV	CO1	Awareness about the distinctive features of political theory and modern political thought of India.
				CO2	Sense to analyze the different aspects of political theory and the contribution of the modern India thinkers to political theorizing and relative autonomy of Indian political thought
N	Politics in South Asia	Course: XIV	IV	CO1	The course is designed to make students to know the South Asian region in a greater detail. The future of one's own destiny is intertwined with the future of others in the region. Scope for research in the area is bright as a number of foundations are coming forward to finance the studies in the region.
				CO2	As policy Planning Division of the Ministry of External Affairs is contemplating to recruit area specialists with deeper knowledge due to inadequate staff, opportunities may arise in near future for the students.
				CO3	The students may get a chance joining the think tanks after completion of the course
O	Society, Economy and politics in Himachal Pradesh	Course: XV	IV	CO1	Demonstrate the understanding of the evolution of Himachal Pradesh as a state of India.
				CO2	This course will enhance the knowledge of students about the economy and Hydro-Electric Power Projects of Himachal Pradesh.
				CO3	The study of political parties, electoral politics, role of caste and politics of sub-regionalism will further enhance their knowledge of Himachal Pradesh.
P	Public International Law	Course-XVI	IV	CO1	Identify the nature of international law and the structure of the international legal system
				CO2	Understand the procedure about the implementation of international law in practical contexts, including the law surrounding the use of force, space law and human rights.
				CO3	Study the impact of international law on diverse peoples and the critique implementation on international law.

				CO4	Identify and appraise the various theoretical perspectives on the formation and operation of the international legal system.
Q	Political Economy of Development			CO1	Ability to comprehend the modes of exchanges between economics and politics, economic limits of politics, statemarket relation and the theories and models of development, modernization, world-system and state
				CO2	Use of interdisciplinary approach or methods in explaining political phenomenon. And ability to explain political events on the basis of critical rational perspectives as opPOed to pure empiricism
				CO3	To comprehend the essential aspect of social development from a political economy perspective
R	Marxismafter Marx			CO1	About key concepts in Marxist thought historical and dialectical method of analysis.
				CO2	Use of class-analysis, base superstructure analysis and dialectical method of analysis.
				CO3	To study the evolution of Marxism through its early, late and POT-modernist phase.